VCE Legal Studies 2019

Now that we can reflect both on one year of teaching the new iteration of the Year 12 Legal Studies course and also the related exam, it is opportune to consider some effective approaches to the subject in 2019. The main purpose of this program is to help you get the most out of your students. You will be provided with a range of teaching strategies and learning activities that can be used when teaching the course – including the provision of materials that focus on current legal issues and cases and can be used in the classroom to teach and assess the key knowledge and key skills in the new course.

During the session(s) you will be provided with – sample unit outlines; resources on recent reforms to the legal system and current legal issues; case studies; class-based activities; examination questions and suggested solutions; practice examinations; suggested timelines for early planning of classes and assessment tasks PLUS: suggested teaching strategies, resources, case studies and tips for student success.

Esteemed text book authors Annie Wilson and Peter Farrar will return to deliver this intimate and interactive session on behalf of ACCESS EDUCATION. Luisa Lipsia will be joining the team to ensure that the 2019 sessions have a fresh new approach.

PRESENTERS

Each of our presenters is a senior legal studies teacher with practical and relatable experience from both inside the school environment and in the business world. They are also gifted text book authors.
